We had an active market but from $10-$15 lower across the board. Cows and bulls were steady and there seems to be more interest in the packer cattle. It looks like every time we think we've hit the bottom of the calf market, wall street and the oil companies find a way to make everything move lower. We've got to have some stability in the world market for the cattle complex to revocer. February 2nd we will have several sets of weaned calves and some good calves that are not weaned. Some of the heifer calves could make excellent replacement heifers. If you have cattle to sell, give us a call!
