We had a $3-$5 lower market this week on 122 head. Each week I try to inform our customers on what our buyers and the people here at the sale barn think is going to happen with the market in the coming weeks. The general opinion right now is "no one knows for sure" but everyone has a feeling that cattle will be cheaper in the next week or two. After next week the market will be closed until January 4th. If I had cattle ready to sell, I'd have them at the Hamilton Commission Company next week! If you need help hauling your cattle, give us a call!
