COMMENTS:

The recent fall in the stock market had no effect on today's cattle market as prices were firm and steady compared to last week's market. Packer pulled back on prices of fats some last week instead of paying the higher asking prices. Show lists will be larger this week, but packers will also be short on inventory and should help maintain the market. Next week there will be a set of Brangus calves and older Brangus cows coming from the Sonora area. The following Tuesday, Feb 20th, we will have a WEANED CALF SPECIAL and several sets of weaned yearlings as well as some Corriente bulls that would be perfect for heifers. These bulls will be tested and ready to go.

Thanks to all our buyer and consignors alike for believing in us to market your livestock!
