COMMENTS:

Spring showers again kept a lot of people from being able to gather their livestock this week. On a light run today, cattle traded mostly steady with lighter, juicy calves being a little softer. Just as our spring rally looked to be running out of steam last week, China's willingness to end the beef ban on the U.S. products helped spur a rally in the futures market as we begin this week. This should help U.S. beef exports have a bigger footprint in China as they rely less on Brazil to fulfill their large beef demand. If weather cooperates with us next week, we should have several weaned calves to market next Tuesday. Also coming next week is 25 young stocker cows that will be selling open to breed back to a bull of your choice. Whether you are buying or selling, Hamilton Commission Company is here to serve you. Let us know how we can help you and come see us next week!
