We had an active market today on all classes of feeders and stockers. Compared to last week, the market was $2-$7 stronger. Follow through buying and signs of late week cash strength in the feedlots seems to have given the market a boost to begin this week's market. Take note that the market usually takes a little dip as we get on into the later part of June and early July. The next week or two might be a good time to market your calves with us. We are here to help you! Let us know how we can assist you!
