All classes of cattle sold steady today compared to last week's market. Much volatility remains in this market with the board on both feeder and live cattle. This week has started off well as the market seems to be correcting itself from the turn it took last week from the Brexit situation. Demand for beef should spike this next week for the holiday, so that may help fight off the technical traders from cheapening the market again as their technical signs are still quite defensive. Remember, there is no sale next week. We hope everyone has a happy and safe 4th of July!
